Also Better Fire Protection, More Game, Business and Money in Adirondacks.

ALBANY, Nov. 8 .- At the last session of the Legislature a bill, fostered by the which provides for the registration as Leensed guides of those who make a business of conducting sportsmen, Asher-men and camping parties through the forested portions of the State.

Although this year is the first time that any auch registration has been undertaken in New York State, the leenang of guides has been practiced licensing of guides has been pracfor years in some other States, with benefit to all concerned, The system that has been inaugurated in this State has been carefully worked out to meet New York conditions and will mean not only better business for the guides themselves, but also better protection of the forests against fire, more effective game protection and more plete enjoyment by vacationists of he State's great forest preserves, It has long been realized that the interests of the Conservation Commission, the vacationists and the guides are identical. Through the registration of guides a direct link of cooperation will be provided between the guides and the

A greater unity will also be developed among the guides, who hitherto have worked more or less as isolated individand to have its effect also upon the Certificates of character, ability and experience are also called for as well as the names of three persons by whom the applicant has been employed as a guide. From the latter the Conservation mission has secured statements of the actual skill of the guide in the field and Hornses have been approved unless these reports were satisfactory.

Guides to Administer Law.

Finally no registration is complete until it is approved by the District Guide Committee for the district in which the Fide resides, it is the object of the Conservation Commission that the guides themselves, through these committees skall have fundamental administration of the law. In this way it is believed the best unity can be secured and the issuance of licenses to undesirable men be prevented. The regulations provide for guides' committees in eight dis tricts throughout the forest and game

Registration of guides is not compul-sory and no fee is charged either for charged either for registration or badge. Any one may engage in the business of guiding whether he is registered or not, but it is hoped and believed by the Conserva commission that as soon as the advantages of the system become well known all guides will of their own vollan desire to become enrolled.

Ever since the registration began the
